Norway Readers Can No Longer Doubt The Evidence.

This grateful citizen testified long ago. Told of quick relief—of undoubted benefit.

The facts are now confirmed. Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It forms convincing proof of merit.

"I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and have always found them a good remedy for kidney and bladder trouble," says Mrs. Francis S. Harlow, of Skillings Ave., South Paris, Me.

"They certainly do strengthen the kidneys and relieve backache. I was feeling a little bad recently and knew that my kidneys needed a tonic. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they gave me relief in a short time."

LATER TESTIMONY

"I am certainly grateful for what Doan's Kidney Pills have done for me," said Mrs. Harlow on May 1st, 1912. "I willingly confirm my former endorsement."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Harlow had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props. Buffalo, N. Y.

OUR NATIONAL FRUIT.

How grand are the scenes when sweet spring is unfolding.

And sweetest pictures are opened to view, And shining in splendor for eyes that behold.

The forests and fields robes of beauty reveal. The new.

Then warmly we welcome the songsters of morning, While singing glad praises at advent of spring.

With buds and bright blossoms the orchards adorning, Awaiting our hopes of harvest to bring.

The red, rosy apple, the bright golden apple, The ripe, luscious apple, of all fruits the king.

The fading of bloom when fulfilling its mission Gives speed to our toil in the light of good cheer.

Inspiring our zeal for a fullest fruition For picking in days when the harvest is here.

We gather the fruit with an exquisite pleasure, In tasting its flavor how closely we cling, And sending to others rich grains of our treasure.

We echo the chorus and gleefully sing: The red, rosy apple, the bright golden apple, The ripe, luscious apple, of all fruits the king.

We choose the sweet bloom for the flower of our nation, To reign with our banner wherever unfurled, And ruling o'er homes in the power of its station.

The light of its blessings will shine through the world, And rising in height of the grandest promotion, The sway of its scepter will speed on the wing.

Till all o'er the land and far o'er the ocean In strains of sweet music its cadence shall ring.

The red, rosy apple, the bright golden apple, The ripe, luscious apple, of all fruits the king.

BE A BOOSTER! Do you know there's lots of people Settling round in every town, Growling like a broody chicken, Knocking every good thing down?

Don't you be that kind of cattle, 'Cause they ain't no use on earth, You just be a booster, rooster, Crow and boost for all you're worth.

If your town needs boostin', booster; Don't hold back and wait to see If some other fellow's willin'— Sail right in, this country's free.

No one's got a mortgage on it, It's just yours as much as his, If your town is shy on boosters, You can get in the boostin' biz.

If things don't seem to suit you, And the world seems kinder wrong, What's the matter with 'a-boostin' Just to help the thing along?

'Cause if things should stop again, We'd be in a sorry plight; You just keep that horn a-blowin'— Booster up with all your might.

That same fellow's willin' to sell you, Them's the ones you want to show.

"Cast your loaves out on the waters, They'll come back to you a seven fold." Maybe, too, they'll come back "battered."

When some fellow boosts for you.

HARTFORD.

Representative Oscar E. Turner.

About every trade, business and profession will be represented in the 77th legislature. If there is a call for a good blacksmith, one who can do most anything with iron, having learned his trade thoroughly, Representative Oscar E. Turner, Democrat, of Hartford, up where the Oxford Bears come from, is the man for the job.

Mr. Turner is a solid citizen, has been on the board of selectmen of his town for several terms, belongs to the Knights of Pythias, Odd Fellows and Grange and is a sound business man. His reputation for ability and good judgment is of the highest and he will be a good man to look after the interests of his section of Oxford county.

ANDOVER

Senator-Elect from Oxford Co.

There will be a new man in the Oxford county seat in the Senate in the 77th legislature. Albert J. Stearns of Norway, Republican, will be succeeded by Young A. Thurston of Andover, Democrat.

Senator-elect Thurston lands in the Senate without serving an apprenticeship in the House but those who know of his ability and knowledge of the various conditions in Oxford county say that won't make a bit of difference.

Mr. Thurston was born just across the state line, in Errol, N. H., in 1854, and educated in the public schools of that town. He was on the board of selectmen of Andover for five years.

He is a farmer and lumber contractor and well known throughout Oxford county as a capable business man and good Democrat.

NORTH BRIDGTON.

A Terrible Accident.

Frank Davis of Haverhill, Mass., met with a most terrible accident which caused his death, on Saturday last while driving team for Bion Pike of Waterford.

Mr. Davis had been to Bridgton after a load of grain, passing through this village about 4.30 on his return home. He was met near L. N. Howard's by Roland Howard who remarked that it was cold. Mr. Davis replied that he was almost frozen to death, that he could not walk fast enough to keep warm.

About 7.30 p. m. Mr. Pike's team arrived home without the driver. He noticed blood on the wheel and becoming alarmed, started to find Mr. Davis.

After going a mile he found the body lying in the road dead with the head badly mangled. He was wrapped in the horse blankets and it is thought Mr. Davis wrapped himself in the blankets and laid down on the grass and fell asleep, falling off, was caught around the head in the wheel and was dragged until the wheel mangled the head so it dropped, and let him free, dead.

Blood was found for a distance of a mile. His hat was picked up by W. M. Glines, who was returning from South Waterford. Mr. Davis is said to have two daughters in Haverhill, Mass.

Use "Gets-It," Corns Shrivel, Vanish!

It's the New Way, and You'll Forget
You Ever Had Corns.

"2 drops put on in 2 seconds, corn shrivels, comes clean off." That's the marvelous story of "GETS-IT," the new-plant corn cure. Nothing can be simpler for the cure of corns—and it

No Corns to Bump,
No Pain, If You Use
"GETS-IT."

never fails. That's why millions of people are using "GETS-IT" today and throwing away their fussy plasters, sticks, tapers, toe-cutting knives, and "wrapping outfits" that make a bundle around the toe and choke it into pain by pressing either on or around the corn. There is nothing to stick to your stockings, nothing cause inflammation or rawness, nothing to press on or around the corn. You apply it in 2 seconds. No more knives, razors, scissors or files, with their blood-poisoning danger. Try "GETS-IT" for chil-lens, callus, wart or bunion.

"GETS-IT" is sold by druggists everywhere, 25c a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

A WARNING TO MANY
Some Interesting Facts About Kidney Troubles.
Few people realize to what extent their health depends upon the conditions of the kidneys.
The physician in nearly all cases of serious illness, makes a chemical analysis of the patient's urine. He knows that unless the kidneys are doing their work properly, the other organs cannot readily be brought back to health and strength.
When the kidneys are neglected or abused in any way, serious results are sure to follow. According to health statistics, Bright's disease which is really an advanced form of kidney trouble, has caused nearly ten thousand deaths in 1913, in the state of New York alone. Therefore, it behooves us to pay more attention to the health of these most important organs.
An ideal herbal compound that has had remarkable success as a kidney remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy. The mild and healing influence of this preparation, in most cases, is soon realized, according to sworn statements and verified testimony of those who have used the remedy.
If you feel that your kidneys require attention, and wish a sample bottle, write to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Mention this paper, enclose ten cents and they will gladly forward it to you by Parcel Post.
Swamp-Root is sold by every druggist in bottles of two sizes—50c and $1.00.

Recollections of Early Settlers of Greenwood
By PROF. A. E. VERRILL of Yale University.
George W. Furlong, who was born in 1825, died suddenly, on the road, while returning from a revival in the church, in 1890, aged 35 years. He was religiously very excitable. His wife, Emeline, had a most tragic death, two years later. The boys and the dog had driven a skunk into or under one of the out-buildings. She tried to help drive him out, when the skunk discharged all his ammunition, at short range, into her face. This overwhelmed her, causing partial suffocation and severe vomiting until she died. This is the only case of the kind that I have ever heard of. The skunk is certainly disagreeable enough, but it is not usually supposed to be able to kill a full grown person. Perhaps he seldom has so good a chance to shoot at short range. This is the only case I know of, in which any wild animal, in this region, has actually killed a person during the last seventy-five years.
Far up the valley, beyond the old Sanborn farm, was the remote farmhouse occupied, in my boyhood, by the Edgecombs. I remember the grown up sons. The younger was named, I think, Ozias; another Charles. The surroundings of the farm and all that part of the valley was a densely wooded region in those days. It was noted for its abundance and good quality of the spruce gum brought out by the Edgecomb boys. There is a series of cross-valleys running up the slopes of the broad mountain northward, each with its small but rapid brook, then containing brook trout. During the spring freshets, when the streams and the Sanborn Brook often became wild torrents, as did many others in the town. Sometimes they undermined the banks and carried away large trees and massive granite boulders, doing damage to the farms. Such "freshets" were among the sights worth seeing.
Overset Mountain; its Dog Story.
Going northward, beyond Sanborn Brook and the Amos Richardson farm, on the old road to the Paul Wentworth farm, one has a fine view of the precipitous south-western face of the mountain. Seen from above, it appears perpendicular, but it used to be a hard "stunt" to throw a stone into the lake below. Few boys could do it. It was on a projecting ledge of this cliff, that the fox-hound, called "Old Dime," belonging to the "Cobblers Club" in Norway Village, got stranded while chasing a fox. He had to remain there two nights, one day, and part of two more, till word could be sent to Norway Village and a party organized to rescue him. They carried a coil of rope by which one of the party, Ed Jenkins, was lowered eighty feet to the ledge. He tied the dog to the rope and remained on the narrow ledge, while it was hoisted up. Then he was pulled up by the same rope. The dog, as soon as he arrived on top, tried to run away on a fresh fox-trail. It was in cold weather, with snow on the ground, and the dog had been corralled nearly forty-eight hours, without food. A good illustration of the power of the hunting instinct, in such dogs! He had chased a fox from Norway to the mountain, before he got lost. The distance by the roads, is about twelve miles. The mountain is over 1300 feet high.
From a geological point of view this mountain is an interesting illustration of one feature of glacial action during the great Glacial Period, perhaps before the appearance of man on the earth. The great glacier, thousands of feet thick, moving southward, tore away and ground off the whole northern sides and the summit of the mountain, while the southern and southwestern sides, being the lee sides, were worn comparatively little. Many other mountains of this region show the same effects, especially Lovejoy Mountain, and the eastern peak of Patch Mountain, and also the mountain at Bryant Pond.
Overset Pond; Bears; Blueberries; Ice Caves.
"Overset Pond," a small lake beneath it, used to be called bottomless—an imaginary feature—but the lake is deep and deeper than usual, and then held a few of any fishes, but had plenty of leeches and salamanders. More recently trout and land-locked salmon were introduced there, but they did not prosper very well, probably from lack of other fishes for food.
Overset Pond is notable for having no inlets of any importance, and only a small outlet. Its real outlet is a small brook flowing northward into a branch of the Little Androscoggin, called Morgan Brook, the outlet of Twitchee Pond. In summer the outlet is very small. Thus the pond is something like a crater-lake. In the spring freshets, however, the outflow is considerable.
My grandfather Hilborn once told me that when he owned the mills at Greenwood City, and had a scarcity of water there, he hoped to increase the supply by securing a flow from Overset Pond. He accordingly had a trench made connecting the pond with the headwaters of Sanborn Brook, not far away. But he got very little flow of water through it, except in spring, when he did not want it. Probably he dammed up the original outlet at the same time. I remember seeing his trench, years afterwards. In my boyhood this was a wild region, but it was a favorite place to go for blueberries.
Near this pond I met the first wild black bear that I ever saw, while I was picking blueberries there, in 1852, when I was thirteen years old. He was about six feet away, and was also picking blueberries. We parted suddenly. I don't know which was the most scared. Near the pond there was then an old deserted farm, once occupied by the Bumpus family.
Following the old county road northward one passes over the eastern flanks of Uncle Tom Mountain.
On the side of Uncle Tom Mountain, to the west, were the Hardscrabble or Ice Caves. These are caused by great fissures, which are irregularly overlaid by large detached masses of granite. Ice often remains in them until summer. In early days bears used to occupy some of them as winter dens.
Paul Wentworth Family; Coopers.
The Wentworth farm was then occupied by Paul Wentworth with his sons, Isaac and Ebenezer, and his unmarried brother, Elijah, then an old man.

Don't Crowd the Poultry.

Crowding poultry is another cause for late egg development. For the heavier breeds, 4 square feet of floor space is not too much, and for the lighter breeds, such as leghorns, from 2½ to 3 feet should be allowed.

In flocks, there are many rationings, all of them as a rule accomplishing their aim, making eggs. As yet there has been no perfect balanced ration. In poultry feeding, as in many other things pertaining to the poultry industry, there is much to learn, but there are mixtures that are, and have, been good. And they are the foundation on which the poultry keeper can work now. A ration mixed for a warm climate would not do for winter conditions in the New England States.

Wm. J. Ryan, blind man of Portland, has been getting signatures to a petition that will be presented to the next Legislature asking for a law to pension off the blind in this State and no man has done so much for that class as he.

CHRISTMAS THOUGHTS.

The "Day of the Child" is with us again. Those blessed memories of childhood Christmas! What would we exchange them for today? The "Christmas feeling" in the air, the days of joyous activity, the evenings, when in song and story we sensed the mystery and solemnity of the season, and finally the great Eve of Expectation and the wonderful Day of Days. Few, indeed, are the men and women who have not some such memories of Christmas joys, for even direst poverty will find a way to gladden the child heart on this, the "Day of the Child," and who can say that the season brings less to the little mother hugging her one cheap doll to her heart than to the daughter of luxury surrounded by an unheeded abundance.

Getting the best out of the season: Over and above mere gift-giving, we want for our children and our home circle the real Christmas spirit, that combination of joy, peace, solemnity, and mystery that makes the season unique among the many festive holidays that we yearly celebrate. To get the best out of the happy Christmas time, we must give of our best toward making joyful those with whom we are in contact.

The fault is never with Christmas, if it is a disappointment, but within ourselves. Let us admit this and prevent that failure for which we alone are responsible. To some the reason is a period of exasperation, envy and worry. How have they failed to grasp the true meaning of the holiday, who allow the trivialities of life to blot out its supreme meanings?

Storing up sweet memories: I have in mind one mother who gets ahead, as far as possible, with extra winter work, sewing, etc., during the fall months, leaving only the routine duties of the home for the month of December. During the weeks before Christmas, therefore, she has time for the children. The evenings find her not too weary to minister to their mental and spiritual needs at this season. There is a little box on a high shelf in a closet wherein are preserved the accumulated literature (poems, stories and pictures) of many years' gatherings. This is brought out, and many a December evening is passed delightfully reading and studying the poems and pictures.

The Great Christmas Story is told in song and narrative form, and the beautiful hymns and songs appropriate to the season sung over and over until even the youngest can join in the choruses. There are so many of these beautiful songs. Every mother ought to familiarize herself with a few of the old and the newer ones. Here is a list of those that have never failed to delight and thrill my own little ones:

"While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks by Night," "Luther's Cradle Hymn," "Star of the East," "Christmas Time Has Come Again," "Star Star, Beautiful Star," "There's a Song in the Air," "Ring the Merry Christmas Bells," "Shine Out, O Blessed Star," "Merry, Merry, Merry Bells," and many others expressing the joy and holiness of the Christmas tide.

Let the children help. When the great Christmas tree, and the extensive preparations for the day are all of adult managing, the little ones naturally grow irritable and restive, longing to have some finger in the pie themselves, even though the pie is being prepared chiefly for them. Would it not be wiser to let them help in the dressing of the tree, or if it is not possible to get away from the time-honored precedent of surprising the youngsters with a glorious product of grown-up skill and industry, let them have a tiny branch of their own to set up and decorate for one less fortunate, for their dolls or for any disposition they care to make of it.

There is much work to keep restless fingers busy, if the mother will only put on her thinking cap. Strings of red cranberries and snow-white popcorn can be made by the children, and are beautiful on the tree; paper chains, even the baby ones can make, sticking an apple full of cloves to put away and see how long it will keep is a favorite pastime; making pen-wipers, shaving pads, cornucopias, boxes; wrapping candies and nuts in "gold" and "silver" foil to fill little bags of bright-colored net for gifts to loved ones, and a hundred little like activities will give the children more real pleasure perhaps than the costly toys in Santa Claus' pack.

Happiness is not measured by cost: The tree that is festive with home-made trimmings, the toy which represents little money but much work and thought of a loving heart and hand, are often greater joy-givers than the splendid tree or valuable gift which wealth can offer. The doll purchaser with a quarter, but possessing a tresser of "really, truly" clothes that can be taken off and on; the starch box fitted up for a doll house; the little stable fitted up by father for the few horses bought from the five and ten cent store; these are really greater treasures to many a girl and boy than mechanical toys or French dolls.

The right kinds of toys: If there is much money to be spent on the children's gifts, let there be a wise selection made by the parent, or the money is worse than wasted. There are wonderful toys that teach as well as amuse, on the market these days. A tiny kitchen range that will really cook, with sauce pans and pots of the correct size, will teach the little girl something of cooking; a sewing box properly equipped will help with the sewing problem; a desk with bookshelves above will make writing and reading a delight; a steam engine, a moving picture machine, a bicycle for the boy is a good investment and will bring joy to its young possessor.

Of course the personal desires and wishes of our children, no matter how queer and "funny" they seem to us, should, as far as possible, be given precedence over our selections for them, for is not this their day—a time when the happiness of the child should mean more to us than the right thinking adult? Our suggestions of expediency or common sense?—[Maine Farmer.]

Keeping Cut Flowers.
If you would keep cut flowers fresh for a long time, keep their stems in damp sand instead of water. The wet sand holds the flowers gracefully and firmly and keeps them pretty much in the positions in which they were arranged.

Harry Greenleaf has returned home from a few weeks spent in Harrison, where he has been shipping apples.

Greenleaf tells a little of his experiences while at work there. One day he was putting apples into the car on the "Narrow gauge" and forgetting that fact, piled a tier along one side, when suddenly, a man who asked him what he was doing.

"Why, loading apples," replied Greenleaf. "Well," said he, "you'll have that car tipped over if you don't look out." He stepped to one side and found the car was just balancing, and another barrel and she'd gone over. A few years ago a man was loading a car there and put a little too much on one side when the team backed against the car, giving it just push enough for it to turn turtle.

Norway Might Have Been in New Ireland.

It is well known that during the Revolution there were some in New England who were not in sympathy with the colonists in their resistance to what they regarded as the oppression of King George's government. These were the Loyalists.

At one time the British government fostered a scheme of severing a portion of what is now Maine from Massachusetts and making it into a province to be colonized by the Loyalists under the name of New Ireland. August 10, 1780, an order to that effect was approved in cabinet and by the King. This was to have been so named because its establishment was to be coeval with the opening of the trade of Ireland and the American Provinces.

One of the purposes of this was to reward and indemnify the Loyalists who were at the same time lay the ground of an Aristocratic Power, the lands to be granted in large tracts to the most meritorious and to be by them leased to the poorer people in manner as was practiced in New York, which was the only province in which there was a tenantry and this province was the least inclined to rebellion. The poorest Loyalists were to have grants from the crown.

In 1782 the British Cabinet granted the prayer of the petition, but that is as far as it ever progressed. It is thought the colony received its "death blow" because of the opinion rendered by the Attorney General of England who entertained scruples about violating the sacredness of the "chartered rights" of Massachusetts Bay Province.

Christmas Comes But Once a Year

AND THE GREATEST GIFT IN ALL THE WORLD IS HAPPINESS

"We dreamed that we stood in the shadow of the last Christmas Tree on earth. We asked of the Cold Winds that sang through its branches, 'What is the lone gift upon the tallest bough?' 'That!' answered the winds, 'is the answer to every child's prayer on Christmas Eve—to the plea of all who have ever dreamed, but never again in vain.'"

And as we looked again at this lone gift we saw that it was the Happiness of all the World." May this Christmas Day, the birthday of the world, witness Peace and Happiness among all nations.

SIMPLE BUT SURE

Hyomei the Great Catarrh Remedy. "Just Breathe It and Be Cured." Do not try to cure catarrh, head colds, or sniffles by taking drugs into the stomach that can do little more than upset the digestion. These common but dangerous diseases, that often cause the loss of hearing and the sense of smell and taste, cannot be cured that way. The common-sense way is to breathe Hyomei, which gets the medication right where it is needed to heal the raw and inflamed lining of the air passages, kill the germs and restore the diseased tissue to a perfectly healthy condition.

Hyomei is a mixture of antiseptic and germicidal oils that you breathe through a small inhaler. No bother; no disagreeable medicine to swallow; simply use the inhaler a few times daily and the health-giving medication of Hyomei will quickly soothe and heal the irritated tissues—stop distressing choking and mucous discharges of the nose—you breathe freely—dull headaches cease, and every catarrhal symptom soon vanishes. Druggists everywhere sell the Hyomei complete outfit that contains inhaler and bottle medicine. There is nothing more economical, simple and pleasant to use, or that gives such rapid and lasting benefit as Hyomei—and perfectly harmless. Noyes Drug Store sells it on the "No-cure-no-pay" plan. 48&50

NORTH WATERFORD.

Moving Day, Waterford Grange. It was not a special Grange meeting—nothing of the kind—just a meeting for the special purpose of moving to the building purchased by Waterford Grange that brought out the crowd Dec. 4th. David and Samuel Lebroke were on hand with their teams to help move the organ, stoves, desks, etc. They and others kindly assisted in "setting up house-keeping." There was plenty to eat and plenty of room to run about, as the building is 60x30 ft. and two stories. Several charter members were present at this genuine "house warming." Waterford Grange, No. 479, was organized some seven years ago and has had a steady financial growth, which resulted in this recent purchase, pleasantly located in the village at North Waterford, just above the schoolhouse. After dinner, which was well attended, there were songs, toasts and merry-making by all. Everyone was in the best of spirits as there is good prospects of very interesting meetings this winter.

CASCO.

Mayberry Hill.

Norman Edwards, Henry Edwards and Frank Morse captured three fine deer, Saturday. F. J. McAuliffe had the misfortune to lose a valuable heifer one day recently. The Mayberry Hill school opened again Monday, after a week's vacation. Maude Edwards, the same teacher, is employed again for the winter term. Everts Mayberry of South Paris spent Thanksgiving with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Mayberry. Kemp Bros.' portable saw mill, which has been in operation at South Otisfield since last August, is to be transported to Oxford Depot, where there will be a winter's sawing. Mrs. Charles Whitney, who has been spending a few weeks in Boston, has returned home.

BOLSTER'S MILLS

The work of labelling the cans at the corn shop has been completed. This has been a prosperous year for the shop and all seem satisfied with the results. J. D. Howe and wife have returned to their home here, having passed a year in Hartford where Mr. Howe was engaged in business. Their many friends are greatly pleased to welcome them again in their midst. Beth and Marjorie Scribner passed the Thanksgiving recess with their parents.

T. H. Thurston of Welchville is stopping at the home of J. D. Howe. The Ladies' Aid was entertained at the home of Christiana Cook, Thursday afternoon.

There was an unusually large attendance at the Grange, Saturday evening. The program was as follows:—Music, Choir; reading, Alice Clark; Question, Has this Grange accomplished any good, if so, what? Opened by E. L. Gay. Many sisters and brothers spoke on this question, the consensus of opinion being that the Grange has done much for the advantage and improvement of its members. Instrumental music, Fannie Wright; reading, an original paper, Cyrus Brett; music, Choir. A treat of apples and pie was served by the refreshment committee. The next meeting will be the election of officers.

Saturday evening, Dec. 12th, the members of the W. C. T. U. will give an entertainment at Grange Hall. There will be a good program including a mirth provoking farce, good music, etc. There will also be a lunch table, candy and popped corn table, a mystery booth, fancy-work for sale. Just the time to buy a Christmas gift, and you can also have your fortune told. A social for the young people and in fact, something to please everyone. This society usually gives but no entertainment during the year and has always been well patronized.

TO THOSE ENGAGED IN AGRICULTURE.
Friends:

We would utilize our space this week to remind you that the responsibility imposed on the American Farmer by the great European war is tremendous. This country will be called upon, as never before, to help feed and clothe the nations of Europe.

The agricultural communities and the banks which serve them were never in a more secure position, or one that promised more, if the opportunities of the present situation are properly embraced. It seems almost providential that our land of peace and plenty should, just at this time—the time of the world's greatest need—enjoy such unprecedented abundance.

The United States is just now blessed with the greatest harvest in its history, in consequence of which we are in a position to command the markets of the world as never before.

It is obvious that for some time to come great prosperity should reward intelligent and persistent effort in agricultural lines. We view the future with great confidence, and believe that it holds wonderful opportunities which you should take advantage of promptly and boldly. The war in Europe has opened wide the door of the world's markets, and no one can enter with such abundance of wares as Uncle Sam. He cannot do it all in a month or a year, but it will be interesting to watch him for the next five years.

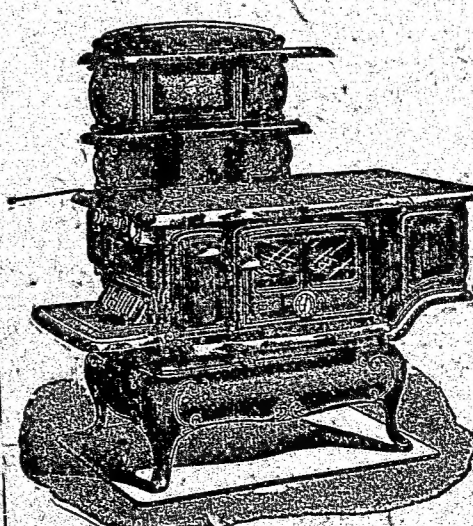

This is not a time for timid or uncertain action on the part of farmers, and it is none too early to begin planning your operations for 1915. We would preach preparedness for next year's harvest, more intensive cultivation, as well as increased acreage, more grain, cattle, hogs, poultry, etc. Care in seed selection and tillage will bring increased crops, for which there will shortly be increased demands.

Think it over. We are with you. If you need our aid, call and we will talk it over. If you have not started an account with us, we want you to do so. If you already carry an account with us, we want to help you make it grow. Consult us about your needs. Hundreds of farmers know the value of our service. We are quite as useful to the farmer as to those engaged in other lines of business; often more useful. We await the opportunity to serve you.

Faithfully,
H. D. SMITH, Cashier.

Ideas from Pres. Wilson's Message.

War has interrupted the means of trade not only, but also the processes of production. In Europe it is destroying men and resources wholesale and upon a scale unprecedented in the annals of the world. There is reason to fear that the time is near, if it be not already at hand, when several of the countries of Europe will find it difficult to do for their people what they have hitherto been always easily able to do—many essential and fundamental things. At any rate, they will need our help and our manifold services as they have never needed them before, and we should be ready, more fit and ready than we have ever been.

The United States, this great people for whom we speak and act, should be ready as never before to serve itself and to serve mankind; ready with its resources, its energies, its forces of production and its means of distribution. We are not ready to mobilize our resources at once. We are not prepared to use them immediately and at their best, without delay and without waste. To speak plainly, we have grossly erred in the way in which we have hitherto hindered the development of our merchant marine, and now, when we need ships, we have not got them.

The government must open these gates of trade, and open them wide, open them before it is altogether profitable to open them or altogether reasonable to ask private capital to open them at a venture. It is not a question of the government monopolizing the field. It should take action to make it certain that transportation at reasonable rates will be promptly provided, even where the carriage is not at all profitable, and then, when the carriage has become sufficiently profitable to attract and engage private capital and engage it in abundance, the government ought to withdraw.

It is not expenditure, but extravagance, that we should fear being criticized for. For the legitimate enterprises and undertakings of a great government whose people command what it should do, but adding what it will benefit only a few or pouring money out for what need not have been undertaken at all or might have been postponed or better and more economically conceived and carried out. The nation is not niggardly; it is very generous. I will chide us only if we forget for whom we pay money out and whose money it is we pay.

We never have had, and while we retain our present principles and ideals we never shall have, a large standing army. If asked, "Are you ready to defend yourselves?" we reply, "Most assuredly, to the utmost, and yet we shall not turn America into a military camp; we will not ask our young men to spend the best years of their lives making soldiers of themselves."

We must depend in every time of national peril upon a citizenry trained and accustomed to arms. We should encourage such training and make it a means of discipline which our young men will learn to value. It is right, too, that the national guard of the states should be developed and strengthened by every means which is not inconsistent with our obligations to our own people or with the established policy of our government.

A powerful navy we have always regarded as our proper and natural means of defense, and it has always been of defense that we have thought, never of aggression or of conquest. But who shall tell us now what sort of navy we build? We shall take leave to be strong upon the seas in the future as in the past, and there will be no thought of offense or of provocation in that. Our ships are our natural bulwarks. When will the experts tell us just what and we should construct, and when will they be right for ten years together if the relative efficiency of craft of different kinds and uses continues to change as we have seen it change under our very eyes in these last few months?
